Just a Thought!
Lord, This weekend we begin our preparation for First Holy Communion with all our wonderful boys and girls and their families. It's a special year of grace and blessing in that our children are journeying towards receiving Christ in Holy Communion. It's the second sacrament in their lives following from their baptism, and for their parents a continuation of the promise they made to tell their child about Christ. How can we tell each other about Jesus Christ? By the way we live our lives. Blessings to all our boys and girls enrolling for First Communion this weekend.
